Pastoring is complex because people are complex. At times it can be very challenging to identify and name what the most important needs are within a congregation and the ways to meet them.

Join us, and our guest Dr. Josh Carroll, where he will share from his experience as a pastor around what he has learned about meeting the needs within his congregation.

Date: May 23, 2024

Time: 2-3pm central (remember to adjust for your time zone)

Topic: What is Effective Spiritual Formation?

Guest: Monica Romig Green

We've all done it. We've made a purchase choice based on its appearance, only to discover that while it's "pretty", it's not terribly effective. We then return to do additional research and vow to make a more informed decision the next time.

We believe when it comes to making a choice around investing in formational resources for the church, it's important to understand what's effective before investing.

Join us and our guest Monica, to hear about her commitment to create resources for the local church that are effective and what she learned along the way.
